

14.6 million

DEAR projects engaged 14+ million Europeans in campaigning-advocacy and education actions in the three years up to 2017

ACTION AS:

educators

businesses

politicians

consumers

23 DEAR projects

Through social media, newspapers, radio and television, and public events 23 DEAR projects made more than 1.3 billion contacts with Europeans, raising their awareness of global development issues and our inter-connected world.

DEAR results, 2014-2017:

Growing the skills and understanding of 35,000 teachers to lead classes on climate change, migration, consumption, trade, food production and more

Empowering 4,500 Civil Society Organisations and Local Authorities to address global development issues through their work with communities in Europe

Educating tens of thousands of young people to build their skills and understanding to actively support global change

Inspiring hundreds of thousands of Europeans to make lifestyle changes that positively contribute to global development

Involving 1000 journalists in global development experiences, to inform their reporting

Positive change in procedure and practice at:

1300
schools

33
Governments
Globally

3900
Civil Society Organisations

800
businesses

20
EU programmes,
UN bodies and
Inter-governmental Organisations

460
Local Authorities

Policy change on issues like:

North/South
Trade

Global Tax
Regimes

Migration

Natural Resource Management

School
Curricula

Priorities and Focus

The European Commission's DEAR Programme supports positive global change through projects led by Civil Society Organisations and Local Authorities across the European Union. The DEAR Programme helps to develop Europeans' awareness and critical understanding of global interdependence, supporting the EU's fundamental values and contributing to the global eradication of poverty and inequality.