

DIALOGUES ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE POST-2015 DEVELOPMENT AGENDA

Since 2012, the United Nations Development Group has been spearheading an unprecedented, multi-stakeholder outreach to facilitate a global conversation on the future development agenda that is to become the successor framework to the Millennium Development Goals beyond 2015. During the consultations so far, participants were keen not just to express their views on the content of the agenda, but they were also interested in how it will be implemented, including the roles and responsibilities of different stakeholders. While the first phase of the consultation during 2013 was focused on the potential issues and areas to be included in the Post-2015 Development Agenda, the means of implementation are now becoming more relevant, with consultations organized around six main areas of discussion:

6 THEMES

1. Localizing the Post-2015 Development Agenda
2. Helping to strengthen capacities and institutions
3. Participatory monitoring, existing and new forms of accountability
4. Partnerships with civil society and other actors
5. Partnerships with the private sector
6. Culture and development

Dialogues on the Implementation of the Post-2015 Development Agenda

LOCALIZING THE POST-2015 DEVELOPMENT AGENDA

UNDP and UN-Habitat, on behalf of UN Development Group, and the Global Task Force of Local and Regional Governments for Post-2015 Development Agenda towards Habitat III are co-leading the dialogue on Localizing the Post-2015 Development Agenda. The main objective of this consultation process, led by national and local governments and supported by UN Country Teams, is to stimulate inclusive national and territorial dialogues on how to achieve the new development agenda at the local level.

Why localization?

To encourage grassroots support, and community and local government commitment, this dialogue creates opportunities to discuss the local dimensions of the future global development framework. Any new development agenda will only impact people's lives if successfully implemented at the local level. This dialogue also explores the increasingly important role of cities in advancing progress on national and global agendas.

Why participate?

Constant dialogue and communication between all stakeholders is of primary importance. The dialogues are fundamentally designed to be open and inclusive providing local governance stakeholders - local governments, CSOs, academia and the private sector - a platform to formulate their ideas on how to implement the Post-2015 Agenda.

Participants specifically consider what local governance processes, tools, institutions, mechanisms, and other means of implementation are needed to achieve the future Sustainable Development Goals.

The engagement of the local stakeholders is not only important for the expression of development aspirations but also ensures accountability, inclusive representation, quality and sustainability. The involvement of a wide range of different local actors also brings key ideas and legitimacy to the intergovernmental processes.

Objective

- Produce clear recommendations on how to implement the new agenda at the local level.
- Amplify the voices of local stakeholders, paying specific attention to include the poor and other traditionally marginalized groups.
- Support the overall international negotiation processes in order to ensure their alignment with aspirations emanating from the local level. National, regional and online dialogues.

National dialogues are organized in 13 countries:

Armenia, Botswana, Burundi, Cameroon, El Salvador, Ecuador, Ghana, Jamaica, Malawi, Philippines, Tajikistan, Tanzania and Yemen.

Following the national consultations, Ecuador, Ghana and Italy are hosting regional dialogues.

Other partner organizations (multilateral partners, foundations, associations of local and regional governments, academia) also contribute to the process by organizing consultations and other events on localizing the Post-2015 Agenda.

Impact of the dialogues

The outcomes of the national dialogues inform various regional and international events as well as policy discussions, and will finally be presented to key decision-makers and leaders deciding upon the post-2015 development framework. The outcomes will be reflected in the UN Secretary-General's "synthesis". Report and presented to the UN General Assembly at the end of 2014.
