HeadLine: African Union Commission Awards Thirteen Consortia of Institutions to Implement the Global Monitoring for Environment and Security and Africa Support Programme

Abstract:

Body:

The African Union Commission (AUC) (<https://au.int/>) officially awards grants to thirteen successful consortia of institutions that will serve as Regional Implementing Centres for the Global Monitoring for Environment and Security and Africa (GMES and Africa) (<http://GMESA4Africa.blogspot.in>) Support Programme. The award ceremony holds on the margins of the 5th AU-EU Summit in Abidjan, Côte d'Ivoire.

Following a Call for Proposals in May 2017, a number of African institutions operating in the areas of water, natural resources, marine and coastal areas, applied for the GMES and Africa Support Programme Grants. To evaluate the applications and select the most suitable consortia of institutions that submitted proposals, the African Union Commission instituted a committee supported by a team of assessors comprising African earth observation experts.

Thirteen consortia of institutions were finally selected and the award marks the official announcement of their selection.

1. Central Africa: Agence Gabonaise d'Etudes et d'Observations Spatiales (AGEOS) and Commission Internationale du Bassin Congo-Oubangui-Sangha (CIBOS) for Water and natural resources service.
2. East Africa:
 - IGAD Climate Prediction and Application Centre (ICPAC) and Regional Centre for Mapping of Resources for Development (RCMRD) for Water and natural resources service
 - Max Planck Oceanography Institute (MPI) for Marine and coastal areas service
3. North Africa:
 - National Authority for Remote Sensing & Space Sciences (NARS) for marine and coastal area service
 - Observatoire du Sahara et du Sahel (OSS) for water and natural resources service

Sommet UA-UE : 11 milliards FCFA de GMES and Africa distribués à 13 consortiums pour la protection de l'environnement

APA-Abidjan (Côte d'Ivoire)

Le programme de soutien dénommé GMES (Surveillance mondiale pour l'environnement et la sécurité) et Afrique a célébré, mardi à Abidjan, 13 consortiums africains en leur octroyant une enveloppe globale de 11 milliards CFA et des diplômes pour leurs actions dans la protection de l'environnement spatial.

For Southern Africa, there are three winners from South Africa, Botswana and Namibia, two consortia from East Africa come from Kenya, when West Africa is represented by consortia from Mauritania, Ghana, Senegal and Nigeria.

North Africa with Egypt and Tunisia as well as the central part of the continent with the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Gabon completes the table of the winners of GMES and Africa which wants to be a program of all the African continent ', according to Dr Tidiane Ouattara, Coordinator of GMES and Africa.

"These laureates have been able to translate the program's projects through space technologies around four segments: earth observation, satellite telecommunications, navigation and astrology," said Ouattara.

According to him, the management of water, coastal zone and maritime and the blue economy are the three major themes of the program for the period 2017-2021 stressing that "space management is no longer a luxury but a necessity to help our decision makers in their policies".

While congratulating the winners, Domenico Rosa, Head of the European Commission's Cooperation and International Development Unit and Pr Sarah Anyang Agbor, Commissioner for the African Union, noted that "there are many challenges for sustainable development in the management of the environment " on the continent.

For the Ivorian Minister of Health, Environment and Sustainable Development, Anne Désirée Ouloto, representing Prime Minister Amadou Gon Coulibaly, "Côte d'Ivoire is committed to playing its full role in the implementation of this initiative. program " which intervenes in " a context of climate change and peril of our young people in the oceans ".

HeadLine: La Commission de l'Union Africaine gratifie treize consortiums d'institutions pour la mise en oeuvre du Programme de soutien GWES (surveillance mondiale de l'environnement et de la sécurité) et Afrique

Abstract:

Body: La Commission de l'Union Africaine (CUA) (<https://l4u.int/>) accorde officiellement des subventions à treize consortiums d'institutions qui serviront de centres régionaux de mise en oeuvre du Programme de soutien pour la surveillance mondiale de l'environnement et de la sécurité en Afrique (GWES et Afrique) (<http://GWESAfrica.blogspot.in/>). La cérémonie de remise des prix se tient en marge du 5^{ème} Sommet Union Africaine – Union Européenne à Accra, Côte d'Ivoire.

À la suite d'un appel à propositions en mai 2017, un certain nombre d'institutions africaines opérant dans les domaines de l'eau, des ressources naturelles, des zones marines et côtières ont présenté une demande pour les subventions du programme GWES et Afrique. Afin d'évaluer les candidatures et de sélectionner les consortiums d'institutions les plus méritants, la Commission de l'Union Africaine a mis en place un comité appuyé par une équipe d'évaluateurs comprenant des experts africains en observation de la Terre.

Treize consortiums d'institutions ont finalement été sélectionnés et le prix marque l'annonce officielle de leur sélection.

1. Afrique centrale: Agence Gabonaise d'Etudes et d'Observations Spatiales (AGEOS) et Commission Internationale du Bassin Congo-Oubangui-Sangha (CICOS) pour le service de l'eau et des ressources naturelles.

2. Afrique de l'Est

- IGAD Climate Prediction and Application Centre (ICPAC) et Regional Centre for Mapping of Resources for Development (RCMRD) pour le service de l'eau et des ressources naturelles
- Mauritius Oceanography Institute (MOI) pour le service des zones marines et côtières

3. Afrique du Nord:
