BIODATA OF PANELLISTS

Gyan Chandra Acharya

Under-Secretary-General and High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States

Ambassador Gyan Chandra Acharya, of Nepal, was appointed to the position of Under Secretary-General and High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States (UN-OHRLLS) on 5 September 2012.

Mr. Acharya as Permanent Representative of Nepal to the United Nations, contributed since 2009 as Chair of the Global Coordination Bureau of the Group of Least Developed Countries, to the successful conclusion of the Fourth United Nations Conference on the Least Developed Countries and the follow-up process. He was also closely involved in the 2010 Millennium Development Goals mid-term review process and the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development (Rio+20), held recently in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

He was also a member of the Bureau of Landlocked Developing Countries and was elected Chair of the Commission on Social Development. From 2010 to 2011 he served as Chair of the Peacebuilding Commission's Working Group on Lessons Learned.

Mr. Acharya brings to the position some 29 years' experience in diplomatic service involving the articulation and promotion of bilateral, regional and global issues. Over the last several years he has been consistently highlighting, advocating for and projecting the interests and concerns of the least developed countries, landlocked developing countries and small island developing States.

Prior to that, Ambassador Acharya was Foreign Secretary with the Government of Nepal (2007-2009), Permanent Representative to the United Nations and the World Trade Organization in Geneva (2003-2007), Spokesman of the Foreign Ministry (1999-2002) and Joint Secretary (Director-General) responsible for South Asia, Europe and the Americas and Regional Organizations, Economic Relations and Coordination Divisions (1998-2003).

A strong advocate of the issues affecting LDCs, LLDCs and SIDS, Ambassador Acharya has stressed that "LDC, LLDC and SIDS issues are livelihood issues requiring urgent global attention and support" and continues to call for the pro-active role of all the stakeholders in galvanising international support in a spirit of global partnership.

Jethro Greene

Chief Coordinator, Caribbean Farmers Network (CaFAN)

Jethro T. Greene comes from a rural, farming background and has accrued 30 years of experience in the development of the sector - particularly among farmers and rural communities in Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, and the Caribbean region. Inspired by his motto: 'Hopelessness and Failure are not words in my vocabulary', Greene has committed himself to working with people to develop innovative, practical, sustainable and grassroots approaches to leadership, group formation, management and group sustainability.

A graduate of the COADY International Institute at Saint Francis Xavier University in Canada, Greene places a high premium on innovative leadership strategies that will build capacity in the agriculture sector, rural communities and with those on whom the future of development rests - our youth and empowerment of people. Currently the Chief Coordinator of the Eastern Caribbean Trading Agriculture Development Organization (ECTAD) and the Caribbean Farmers' Network (CaFAN), Greene is also a director of the St. Vincent and the Grenadines Chamber of Industry and Commerce, the St. Vincent and the Grenadines National Development Foundation, and a member of the CARICOM Food and Nutrition Technical Working Group and CARICOM Common Agriculture Policy Working Group. Carmen Nurse

President, Caribbean Network of Rural Women Producers (CANROP)

Ms Carmen Nurse is a Guyanese by birth and St. Lucian by nationalization. She is a Trained Teacher with a First Degree in Education from the University of Guyana.

She has thirty-nine (39) years teaching experience in Secondary Schools - seventeen years in Guyana and the remaining twenty-two years and on going in St Lucia. She specializes in the teaching of Food and Nutrition, Clothing and Textiles and Health and Family Life Education. In St Lucia her students participated in many Food competitions using local foods and won many of the categories.

Ms. Nurse lived in Guyana during the presidency of the late Linden Forbes Sampson Burnham, when citizens were encouraged and in some cases forced to grow, buy and eat locally produced foods. Almost every household planted short term crops for household use and/or for marketing. She learnt to process starchy root vegetables to produce flours and use the flours to prepare products that were traditionally produced using wheat flour; to preserve a wide variety of local fruits to replace the imported raisins, currants, cherries and prunes. These and other processing techniques she continues to share and promote to her secondary school students, parents and in women's organizations.

In 2010 she was elected President of the St. Lucia Network of Rural Women Producers (Micoud Cluster), in 2011 President of the Caribbean Network of Rural Women Producers (CANROP), in 2013 President of the St. Lucia Chapter and also in 2103 became a member of the newly formed UN Women's Group – Caribbean Civil Society Advisory Group (CCSAG).
