

Climate Change Adaptation in Agriculture Competence and Trainer's Workshop

NRM 10

Content

- Assessing vulnerability
- Working with the vulnerability matrix
- Climate proofing and reflections on the climate proofing approach
- Identification of sustainable development pathways and prioritization of adaptation options
- Participatory approaches to climate change adaptation and development of adaptation strategies
- Communication on climate change adaptation

Methodology

- Expert inputs
- Working groups
- Discussions
- Case studies and media
- Exchange of experiences
- Participatory techniques

The benefit for you

- Learn from practical examples of other experts and participants
- Reflect on people's requirements and focus on relevant needs for adaptation in the agricultural sector
- Familiarize with planning and working tools for climate change adaptation
- Experience the value of group based learning

Previous knowledge and experience

- Programme and project management (also for junior experts)
- Rural development

Number of participants

10 - 20

Duration

5 days

Language of instruction

English

Dates

December 8th to 12th, 2014
In Feldafing near Munich, Germany

Timetable

Monday to Thursday
8:30 to 17:30 hrs

Friday
8:30 to 16:00

Costs

Tuition fee:
GIZ staff € 1.750,-
Others €2.060,-
(Taxes not included)

Tuition fee does not include
food and accommodation

Recommended readings

- Adaptation to Climate Change
- Integrating Climate Change
- Adaptation made to measure
- SEA CHANGE
- Climate Proofing for Development

Kontakt

AIZ Kundenberatung
Lohfelder Str. 128
53604 Bad Honnef
T +49 (0) 2224 926-444
E kundenportal-aiz@giz.de
I www.giz.de/akademie