Partnership & Political Resilience

Integrated Environmental People and societal approaches

OUTPUTS Specific Objectives — OUTCOMES Overall Objective — IMPACT

Resilience, Conflict Sensitivity and Peace

1. Improved / maintained / restored equitable access to and use of essential services according to international human rights standards

2. Improved access to affordable justice for all, including to effective and accessible complaints and redress mechanisms at national, local level, as well as in information

3. Improved access to affordable justice for all, including to effective and accessible complaints and redress mechanisms at national, local level, as well as in information

1. Improved / maintained / restored equitable access to and use of essential services according to international human rights standards

2. Improved access to affordable justice for all, including to effective and accessible complaints and redress mechanisms at national, local level, as well as in information

4. Improved access to affordable justice for all, including to effective and accessible complaints and redress mechanisms at national, local level, as well as in information

5. Enhanced adaptability, diversification, gender responsiveness and productivity of economic systems, including the face of demographic pressures

6. More gender-responsive, inclusive, citizen-oriented and conflict-sensitive and sustainable management of land, natural resources and ecosystems

7. Improved effectiveness of prevention, preparedness and response to natural and man-made disaster

8. Strengthened capacity of legitimate governments to develop democratic checks and balances, including an effective civilian oversight of the security sector

9. Strengthened capacity of all relevant stakeholders involved in the security sector to deliver on core security functions in a manner, which is inclusive, accountable and compliant with international humanitarian and human rights laws, also with regard to gender, rights and ethnic minorities

10. Strengthened capacities of communities and the private sector to contribute effectively to human rights protection, justice sector reforms in line with international best standards, traditional justice mechanisms and security sector reforms

11. Strengthened government capacity to design, implement and sustain nationally-owned and -led shock-resistant social protection systems with particular attention to children, women and those living in marginalised/vulnerable situations as positive agents for change

12. Strengthened government and private sector capacity to ensure access to financing, to diversify markets and to meet trade standards (including social and environmental aspects, as well as labour rights and human rights standards)

13. Strengthened capacities and support for sustainable livelihoods in rural and urban areas, including by skills development and job creation initiatives, with a specific attention to economic empowerment and inclusion of women, youth and those living in marginalisable situations

14. Increased access to food and capacities for diversified food production, climate resilience and robust agricultural bases, based on secure tenure

15. Improved adaptability, diversification, gender responsiveness and productivity of economic systems, including the face of demographic pressures

16. Strengthened capacities of government authorities and communities for instance, transparent and sustainable management of natural resources (including conflict sensitive and rights based land management and use)

17. Strengthened local, national and regional authorities’ capacity to prevent and address environmental degradation, pollution and the effects of climate change e.g., mitigation and adaptation strategies and measures, including in livelihood strategies, education and health

18. Strengthened capacities of government authorities and communities for instance, transparent and sustainable management of natural resources (including conflict sensitive and rights based land management and use)

19. Strengthened capacity of all relevant stakeholders involved in the security sector to deliver on core security functions in a manner, which is inclusive, accountable and compliant with international humanitarian and human rights laws, also with regard to gender, rights and ethnic minorities

20. Strengthened capacities of local and national authorities to design, implement and sustain locally-resilient and -owned strategies and systems, with particular attention to children, women and those living in marginalised/vulnerable situations

21. Strengthened capacities of communities and the private sector to contribute effectively to human rights protection, justice sector reforms in line with international best standards, traditional justice mechanisms and security sector reforms

22. Strengthened capacities of communities and the private sector to contribute effectively to human rights protection, justice sector reforms in line with international best standards, traditional justice mechanisms and security sector reforms

23. Strengthened sectoral and thematic policy dialogue on the basis of specific indicators on resilience, conflict sensitivity and peace, when applicable

24. Strengthened capacities of communities and the private sector to contribute effectively to human rights protection, justice sector reforms in line with international best standards, traditional justice mechanisms and security sector reforms

25. Strengthened capacities of communities and the private sector to contribute effectively to human rights protection, justice sector reforms in line with international best standards, traditional justice mechanisms and security sector reforms